

Chancellor donates Ksh. 9M worth of books to School of Law

The University of Nairobi Chancellor, Dr. Vijoo Rattansi has donated Ksh. 9 Million worth of books to the Parklands Campus, School of Law Library.

Speaking during her maiden visit this year to the Law School , Dr. Rattansi accepted to champion the fundraising efforts for the School of Law Tower. The building will go a long way in improving the teaching and learning facilities at the premier Law School in the region. Upon its completion, the tower will be used for teaching 3,000 law students and will be used by 120 staff for academic research.

The Chancellor, took the opportunity to congratulate the new Dean, Prof. Kiarie Mwaura who succeeded, Prof. Patricia Kamore-Mbote. She as well expressed her desire to see the School of Law being the best in the region.

The Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Peter Mbithi reiterated University Management's commitment to improve the quality of university education saying that the march towards world class is unstoppable.

Prof. Kiarie Mwaura, Dean, School of Law, expressed the need to improve the teaching and learning facilities. Currently, the school offers bachelors, masters and doctorate programs. The bachelors program is also offered as well in Kisumu and Mombasa Campuses. "We need to start looking into the area of oil and gas and also financial law," he observed. He noted that going forward, those are the new areas to be explored.

The Chancellor, was accompanied by Prof. Enos Njeru, Principal, College of Humanities and Social Sciences and Dr. Obosi, the Registrar, College of Humanities and Social Sciences among other staff members.
